

DOMINIUM BECOMES NATIONAL EMPLOYEE BENEFIT CONSULTING PRACTICE FOR GLOBAL RISK MANAGEMENT FIRM INTEGRO

New York, NY & Atlanta, GA (November 10, 2014) – Integro Ltd., one of the world’s largest and fastest growing privately held insurance brokerage and risk management firms, has acquired Atlanta-based Dominion to lead its national employee benefit consulting practice. Joining Integro positions Dominion for rapid growth and complements Integro’s Property and Casualty success in the large complex risk market. The Dominion management team, led by CEO Scott Schanen and COO Jimmy Mills, will guide this large complex risk practice and will play a key role in formulating future growth plans for the combined companies.

“The employee benefits sector is crucial to our suite of corporate solutions, especially as we look to further enhance and leverage Integro’s leadership position in the management of risk. The combined knowledge and expertise of Dominion and Integro will ensure we deliver unique and sustainable solutions to managing the burgeoning cost of health care,” said William Goldstein, President of Integro. “The strategic approach, technical abilities and proven record of success of Dominion are a perfect fit with Integro’s vision and plans for future growth.”

Schanen and Mills will remain in their respective leadership positions, reporting directly to Goldstein. Each will also serve on Integro Ltd.’s Operations committee. According to Schanen, “Combining the Integro and Dominion brand further differentiates our employee benefits practice and facilitates the development of innovative strategies to rethink the management of healthcare, pharmacy, disability and workers’ compensation programs.”

Dominium was launched in 2007 under the belief that innovation in employee health and well-being programs can help companies maximize the power of their own performance. “Becoming part of the Integro organization enables us to leverage the resources and expertise of a large international firm while providing the client focused service of a boutique benefits consultancy; we continuously punch above our weight,” notes Mills. “Our combined expertise and talent will bring innovation and profit-oriented outcomes to the clients we serve.”

Dominium will maintain its successful brand and remain headquartered in Atlanta where it will support branch office growth into other major U.S. markets.
